

Okay, now let's save the Belle Isle Boat House.

Boat Club, Belle Isle, Detroit, Mich.

The Detroit Boat House is one of the oldest boat clubs in America.

The Michigan Department of Resources (DNR) is currently considering the future of the Belle Isle Boat House, which has been in use since 1902. They might choose to save it. But they might just demolish it!

It must be saved. It is a beautiful, historic, legendary Detroit building.

Renovating and revitalizing the Boat House would unlock a jewel for Detroit's neighborhoods, providing access for all to a wholly reimagined waterfront, open for kayaking, fishing, boating, sailing and more.

Tearing it down would be yet another preservation tragedy in Detroit. The city deserves this gem of a building—the gateway to Belle Isle.

Email the head of the DNR Scott Bowen and Ron Olsen the head of Parks and tell them to Save the Boat House.

Scott can be reached at:
DNR-Director@michigan.gov
or at 517-284-6367

Ron can be reached at:
DNR-ParksAndRecreation@michigan.gov
or at 517-284-7275

Let's keep making Detroit beautiful.

Are We Gonna Save
Another Historic
Detroit Building?
Yep. You Bet We Are!
